

LBGTQ+ Blindness

by

Phil Rasmussen

Homosexuality is not something new to civilization. In ancient Egypt, both the Torah and Leviticus 18:3 tell about the practice of two men or two women marrying each other. In ancient Greece it was a rite of passage for elite teenage males to enter into relationships with older men.

Ancient Roman history documents many same-sex relationships among both men and women. It is important to note that in 533 AD, homosexuality became illegal in the Roman Empire. Also note that traditional interpretations of the Old and New Testaments discuss the relationship between man and woman over all other forms of human sexual activity.

Similarly, in ancient Asia, homosexuality has been well documented. “For most of the 20th century homosexuality in China had been legal, except for a period between 1979 and 1997 where male anal sex was punishable as ‘hooliganism.’” (Wikipedia)

In the western world, the acceptance of LBGTQ+ people has been largely influenced by religion, legal, political and cultural norms. In both the Christian and Islam religions homosexuality is forbidden and severe punishment were dealt to those caught in such acts.

While severe punishments are still dispenses in Islam, Christianity has become more lenient since the early 1900s. while there were a few homosexuals who came “out of the closet” since those early times, it wasn’t until 1969 that their “outing” became nationwide with the Stonewall Rebellion in New York City. A year after the rebellion, the first “Gay Liberation March” was held.

Since then homosexuals (called “gays”) have been pushing for the “freedom and civil rights we deserve as human beings. . .” according to one of the March organizers. In the 1980s, the gay and lesbian rights movement was radicalized in response to the Christian right and AIDS epidemic. Later in the 1990s, the radical organization Queer Nation took coming out to a new level. Queer Nation members were in-your-face about homosexuality and forced heterosexuals to acknowledge their presence.

For the past 50+ years the gay movement has created several activist organizations which no longer identify its members as words but rather, collectively, as the acronym LBGTQ+..

Most of the polls taken in the past decade on the demographics of sexual orientation and gender identity in the United States have conflicting results ranging from 0.5% to 7.1% (Gallup) of the nation's adult population. The Williams Institute, estimates that the transgender or non-binary population ranges from 0.5% to 1.6%, while a Pew Research survey in 2022 found that approximately 5% of young adults in the U.S. say their gender is different from their sex assigned at birth.

To put these findings in perspective, sex researcher Alfred Kinsey, in 1948, suggested that 10 percent of the males he'd studied were, "more or less exclusively homosexual." And ever since that 10 percent number has been embraced and frequently cited by various advocacy groups. In an NPR interview demographer Gary Gates puts the figure closer to 3.8%.

What the true figures are is not really known for a number of reasons. However one thing is certain, the LGBTQ+ community has been more vocal in the past several years, has been pushing transgender reorientation, and demanding the same rights that heterosexual individuals have.

What the LGBTQ+ community does not realize is that its members are being played. We can understand their desire to be treated as "normal" people with the same rights and privileges. However the Communist Party USA (CPUSA), in 1963, laid out 45 goals to take America down and instill communist rule. Several of the goals that the CPUSA listed relate to the LGBTQ+ community in one fashion or another, AND have been achieved (<https://mamabearapologetics.com/communist-goals/>).

The CPUSA however is not the only group working to "reinvent" America. Just as insidious as the CPUSA is, its equal partners working for the destruction of our democratic government and control of our people are the Democrat Socialists of America (DSA), George Soros' Open Society Foundations, Freedom Road Socialist Organization (FRSO) and other similar groups. All of these groups are far-left and support far-left politics, which includes the LGBTQ+ movement.

The LGBTQ+ people, like the media, are unwittingly being used to push an agenda. Most, if not all, of these people have not realized that once a communist or socialist government is installed in America, the leaders will issue orders making all aspects of LGBTQ+ relationships (especially sexual) illegal and impose severe punishments. The same applied to the media which does not support the government.

Some will say that this is fear mongering but when looking at communist and socialist regimes since Lenin, all of these regimes have implemented such laws and punishments, even including death.

The evil organizations mentioned above will use ANY means possible and people to achieve their agendas, and will then turn against those they used to achieve their goals. In other words the people will be treated as slaves to the dictator and evil will reign until the Second Coming of Christ.